

Abstract

A cellular telephone and method of carrying a cellular telephone are disclosed. The cellular telephone has an antenna with a loop spaced apart from the cellular telephone housing. The loop is preferably attached to a key chain ring for further attachment to items such as belt loops, purse straps, luggage handles, bands, and chains, thereby providing improved ease of handling and carrying of the cellular telephone.